Third-Party Risk Management Capability

DATASHEET

Effectively manage your vendor risk exposure with the ideal combination of software and expertise.

Today, organizations face significant risks as a direct result of their vital third-party relationships, and managing these risks is becoming increasingly challenging. As Third-Party Risk Management (TPRM) software adoption continues to grow, it is becoming clear that software alone cannot solve the challenge of managing risk across a vast network of technology vendors, service providers and supply chain partners.

SureCloud's unique Capability-based approach provides the perfect combination of software and expertise that organizations require to optimize their TPRM practices. We deploy industry-leading Consultants with deep domain expertise to enable your organization to embed best practice into your TPRM operations. Our Consultants leverage the Gartner-recognized SureCloud TPRM platform and its fully integrated content to ensure that your third-party risks are managed as effectively and efficiently as possible.

The Challenge

- The process of managing third-party risks involves liaising with and collecting multiple data points from an extensive supplier network. Companies often lack the necessary tools and expertise required to manage these processes effectively.
- Organizations must identify and tier all technology and service providers, according to their relative impact on business operations.
- Appropriate question sets must be devised to efficiently reveal potential vulnerabilities within a third party's cybersecurity controls.
- Intuitive workflows must be designed to enable employees to efficiently execute TPRM tasks and all data points which are gathered must be stored in a secure, centralized location.

The Solution

Transform your TPRM practice with SureCloud's Capability-centric approach. Our unique TPRM Capability provides the tools and expertise you need to effectively manage your vendor risks. Our team of expert and highly experienced Consultants will guide you through the transformation process.

- We equip you with the software and expertise you need to manage your third-party risks; all delivered precisely at the point you need it.
- Our expert Consultants apply the proven SureCloud IMAR (Identify, Manage & Assure, Remediate) methodology to safeguard your transformation.
- All TPRM processes leverage the SureCloud platform and its embedded, best-of-breed content.
    - Identify all vendors and other suppliers to define the scope and provide structure to your TPRM program.
    - Manage & Assure – tier and assess your vendor landscape. Leverage our Consultants' deep domain expertise to define key processes, in line with industry best practice.
    - Remediate all priority vendor risks against a clearly defined timeline.
- Our Gartner-recognized TPRM software is used to track all vendor management activities, to centrally store all data, and the SureCloud platform can also be used to deliver highly granular yet clear reporting.
